Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements
As of December 31, 2025

1. ORGANIZATION

The Company was organized April 24, 2012 under the laws of the State of Nevada.

The Company intends to engage primarily in the development of regenerative medical applications which we intend to license from other entities up to the point of successful completion of Phase I and or Phase II clinical trials after which we would either attempt to sell or license those developed applications or, alternatively, advance the application further to Phase III clinical trials.

The Company is currently engaged in actively identifying small molecules that inhibit or express NR2F6 leading to immune cell activation for oncology applications and immune cell suppression for autoimmune disease.

The Company is in the early stages of development of its proposed products and therapies. The Company will be required to obtain approval from the FDA in order to market any of The Company's products or therapies. No approval has been granted by the FDA for the marketing and sale of any of the Company's products and therapies and no assurance may be given that any of the Company's products or therapies will be granted such approval. The Company's current plans include the development of regenerative medical applications up to the point of successful completion of Phase I and/ or Phase II clinical trials after which the Company would either attempt to sell or license those developed applications or, alternatively, advance the application further to Phase III clinical trials. The Company can provide no assurance that the Company will be able to sell or license any product or that, if such product is sold or licensed, such sale or license will be on terms favorable to the Company.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Going Concern Matters

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America ("GAAP"), which assume the Company's ongoing operations as a going concern. The Company incurred a net comprehensive loss of $967,853 during the three months ended December 31, 2025, and has an accumulated deficit of $22,659,473 as of December 31, 2025.

Management intends to secure additional operating funds through equity or debt offerings. However, success in this endeavor is not guaranteed. There are no assurances that the Company will be able to (1) attain a revenue level sufficient to generate adequate cash flow from operations or (2) secure additional financing through private placements, public offerings, or loans necessary to support its working capital requirements. If funds from operations and any private placements, public offerings, or loans prove insufficient, the Company will need to explore alternative sources of working capital. No guarantee exists that such financing will be available, or if available, on terms acceptable to the Company. Failure to obtain sufficient working capital may compel the Company to reduce or cease its operations.

Due to uncertainties related to these issues, significant doubt persists regarding the company's ability to continue as a going concern. The accompanying consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments regarding the recoverability or classification of asset values, nor the amounts and classifications of liabilities that might arise if the Company is unable to maintain its operations.

Basic of Presentation

The financial statements have been prepared using the basis of accounting generally accepted in the United States of America. Under this basis of accounting, revenues are recorded as earned and expenses are recorded at the time liabilities are incurred. The Company has adopted a September 30 year-end.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of KCL Therapeutics, Inc., a Nevada corporation and wholly owned subsidiary of Regen. Significant inter-company transactions have been eliminated.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in our consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes. Such estimates include accounts receivables, accrued liabilities, income taxes, long-lived assets, and deferred tax valuation allowances. These estimates generally involve complex issues and require management to make judgments, involve analysis of historical and future trends that can require extended periods of time to resolve, and are subject to change from period to period. In all cases, actual results could differ materially from estimates.

Reverse Stock Split

On March 6, 2023, the Company filed a Certificate of Amendment (the "Certificate of Amendment") to the Company's Certificate of Incorporation to effect a reverse stock split of its issued Common Stock in the ratio of 1-for-1,500 (the "Reverse Stock Split"). As a result of the Reverse Stock Split, the total number of shares of common stock held by each shareholder was converted automatically into the number of whole shares of common stock equal to (i) the number of shares of common stock held by such shareholder immediately prior to the Reverse Split, divided by (ii) 1,500, and then rounded up to the nearest whole number. No fractional shares were issued, and no cash or other consideration was paid to any shareholder. Instead, the Company issued one whole share of the post-Reverse Stock Split common stock to any shareholder who otherwise would have received a fractional share as a result of the Reverse Stock Split. Except for the Company's historical financial statements and unless otherwise stated, all option, share, and per share information gives effect to the Reverse Stock Split.

The historical financial statements have been retroactively adjusted to reflect a 1 for 1500 reverse stock split of all issued series of stock effective as of March 6, 2023.

Derivative Liability

The Company analyzes the conversion feature of Convertible Notes for derivative accounting consideration under ASC 815-15 "Derivatives and Hedging. ASC 815-15 requires that the conversion features are bifurcated and separately accounted for as an embedded derivative contained in the Company's convertible debt. The embedded derivative is carried on the balance sheet at fair value. Any unrealized change in fair value, as determined at each measurement period, is recorded as a component of the income statement and the associated carrying amount on the balance sheet is adjusted by the change. The Company values the embedded derivative using the Black-Scholes pricing model.

The Black Scholes pricing model used to determine the Derivative Liability on convertible notes issued by the Company in which an embedded derivative is recognized as of December 31, 2025 utilized the following inputs:

Schedule of Derivative liability
Risk Free Interest Rate	3.48%
Expected Term	0.57 – (5.66) Yrs
Expected Volatility	1192.672%
Expected Dividends

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes using the liability method prescribed by ASC 740, "Income Taxes." Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the difference between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates that will be in effect in the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The Company records a valuation allowance to offset deferred tax assets if based on the weight of available evidence, it is more-likely-than-not that some portion, or all, of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The effect on deferred taxes of a change in tax rates is recognized as income or loss in the period that includes the enactment date.

The Company applied the provisions of ASC 740-10-50, "Accounting For Uncertainty In Income Taxes", which provides clarification related to the process associated with accounting for uncertain tax positions recognized in our financial statements. Audit periods remain open for review until the statute of limitations has passed. The completion of review or the expiration of the statute of limitations for a given audit period could result in an adjustment to the Company's liability for income taxes. Any such adjustment could be material to the Company's results of operations for any given quarterly or annual period based, in part, upon the results of operations for the given period. As of September 30, 2025 the Company had no uncertain tax positions, and will continue to evaluate for uncertain positions in the future.

The Company generated a deferred tax credit through net operating loss carry forward. However, a valuation allowance of 100% has been established.

Interest and penalties on tax deficiencies recognized in accordance with ACS accounting standards are classified as income taxes in accordance with ASC Topic 740-10-50-19.

Basic Earnings (Loss) Per Share

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 260, "Earnings Per Share", which specifies the computation, presentation and disclosure requirements for earnings (loss) per share for entities with publicly held common stock. ASC 260 requires the presentation of basic earnings (loss) per share and diluted earnings (loss) per share. The Company has adopted the provisions of ASC 260 effective from inception.

Basic net loss per share amounts is computed by dividing the net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding.

Advertising

Costs associated with advertising are charged to expense as incurred. Advertising expenses were $0 and $0 for the quarters ended December 31, 2025 and 2024

Revenue Recognition

The Company determines the amount and timing of royalty revenue based on its contractual agreements with intellectual property licensees. The Company recognizes royalty revenue when earned under the terms of the agreements and when the Company considers realization of payment to be probable. Where royalties are based on a percentage of licensee sales of royalty-bearing products, the Company recognizes royalty revenue by applying this percentage to the Company's estimate of applicable licensee sales. The Company bases this estimate on an analysis of each licensee's sales results. Where warranted, revenue from licensees for contractual obligations such as License Initiation Fees are recognized upon satisfaction of all conditions required to be satisfied in order for that revenue to have been earned by the Company.

Research and Development Cost

Research and development (R&D) costs are expensed as incurred. R&D costs are related to the Company's internally funded development of the Company's product developments and patents. The Company R&D costs were $210,000 and $ 0 for the quarters ended December 31, 2025 and 2024.

Stock-Based Compensation

The Company accounts for share-based compensation in accordance with the fair value recognition provisions of FASB ASC Topic 718, Share-based Payment, which requires all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, to be recognized in the consolidated financial statements based on their fair values. The fair value of stock options is calculated by using the Black-Scholes option pricing formula that requires estimates for expected volatility, expected dividends, the risk-free interest rate and the term of the option. If any of the assumptions used in the Black-Scholes model change significantly, share-based compensation expense may differ materially in the future from that recorded in the current period.

Segment Reporting

FASB ASC Topic 280, Segment Reporting, requires public companies to report financial and descriptive information about their reportable operating segments. The Company's management identifies operating segments based on how the Company's management internally evaluate separate financial information, business activities and management responsibility. At the current time, the Company has only one reportable segment, primarily in the development of regenerative medical applications

Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes in accordance with ASU 740, "Income Taxes". Under this method, income tax expense is recognized as the amount of: (i) taxes payable or refundable for the current year and (ii) future tax consequences attributable to differences between the consolidated financial statements carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in the results of operations in the period that includes the enactment date. A valuation allowance is provided to reduce the deferred tax assets reported if based on the weight of available evidence it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The Company is subject to Income tax filings requirements in U.S. federal and various state jurisdictions. The Company's tax returns for all years are subject to U.S. federal, state, and local income tax examinations by tax authorities. The Company reports income tax related interest and penalties within the income tax line item on the consolidated statements of operations. The Company likewise reports the reversal of income tax-related interest and penalties within such line item to the extent the Company resolves the liabilities for uncertain tax positions in a manner favorable to the accruals.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, Financial Instruments – Credit Losses, which requires entities to estimate all expected credit losses for financial assets measured at amortized cost basis, including trade receivables, held at the reporting date based on historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts. The Company adopted this guidance on January 1, 2023. The adoption of this accounting standard did not have an impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements as the Company is in a pre-revenue state and does not generate revenue and has no receivables from third party.

In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, Segment Reporting (Topic 280): Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures, which requires incremental disclosure of segment information on an interim and annual basis. This ASU is effective for public entities for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Retrospective application to all prior periods presented in the financial statements is required for public entities. The Company adopted ASU 2023-07 as of January 1, 2024, which resulted in additional disclosures of significant segment expenses and other segment items as well as incremental qualitative disclosures.

Other recent accounting pronouncements issued by the FASB (including its Emerging Issues Task Force), the AICPA and the SEC did not or are not believed by management to have a material impact on the Company's present or future consolidated financial statements.

5. INVESTMENTS

The Company classifies its investment securities as available-for-sale. A corporation is considered to undergo “an ownership change” if, as a result of changes in the stock ownership by “5-percent shareholders” or as a result of certain reorganizations, the percentage of the corporation’s stock owned by those 5-percent shareholders increases by more than 50 percentage points over the lowest percentage of stock owned by those shareholders at any time during the prior three-year testing period. Five-percent shareholders are persons who hold 5% or more of the stock of a corporation at any time during the testing period as well as certain groups of shareholders (based typically on whether they acquired their shares in a single offering or exchange transaction) who are not individually 5-percent shareholders.

As the Company will require cash infusions in order to implement its business plan, and as it is probable, although not guaranteed, that such funding needs may be met through the sale of equity securities to “5-percent shareholders”, the Company recognized a valuation allowance equal to the deferred Tax Asset and the Company recorded a valuation allowance reducing all deferred tax assets to 0.
